

Dear Staff and Students

The Criminology and Forensic Studies Discipline School of Applied Human Sciences

cordially invites you to a guest lecture entitled

Plural policing provision: “Implications and challenges for governance and accountability of policing”

by Professor Philip C. (Cherrill) Stenning

Date

Wednesday, the 25th of October 2017

Time

11h00 – 13h00

Venue

Howard College Theatre, Howard College Campus, UKZN

Professor Philip C. Stenning

Professor Stenning is one of the most renowned and decorated Criminologists in the World. He is currently an Honorary Professor of Criminology and Forensic Studies within the School of Applied Human Sciences at UKZN, and a Professor of Criminology and Criminal Justice at Griffith University, Australia. Professor Stenning is also presently the Co-Editor of the Australian and New Zealand Journal of Criminology, Editorial Advisory Board member of the Canadian Journal of Criminology and Criminal Justice, and International Advisory Board member for Clarendon Studies in Criminology Series.