

It's time for the writers...

Join the Daily News with a book collection at this year's 19th Time of the Writer Festival taking place this week at different locations across Durban, including venues like Clermont, Cato Manor, uMlazi, Inanda and KwaMashu. With our partnership with the Centre of Creative Arts at University of KwaZulu-Natal, the Daily News hopes to promote a culture of reading throughout the country with our book drive for children in rural areas. Seen promoting the book drive at the launch of this year's festival is invited writer Anny Grondin, from Reunion Island.
